

People should always obey their rulers.
An essential characteristic of democracy...