

Thinking on a scale where one means far left and ten means far right, where do you place yourself?